deco

About us

deco for greener interiors is the independent eco design-led online magazine for people who love their homes but also care about the environment. At deco for greener interiors we give readers newsworthy, insightful and entertaining information on chic and environmentally-friendly interiors and design to help them live a more sustainable lifestyle at home.

Mission

deco speaks to our readers' values. We focus on how they can do their bit for the environment by choosing eco-friendly products and materials for their homes. We invite readers to explore and celebrate their own decorating styles and provide inspiration to help them achieve a home that works with their desire for a greener lifestyle.

Audience

for greener interiors
deco launched in late 2012 and our readership is around 55,000+ unique visitors, with 96,000 page views and some 3,800,000 impressions per quarter. And our figures grow organically at around 12% quarter-on-quarter.

Our readers are 65% women, aged between 26-51, they're educated, in full time employment, with an average HHI GBP 60-85,000.

Our following is growing with over 2,680 Twitter and 2,610 Facebook followers.

Company Features

Designed to offer deco readers a real insight into your company's story and values, because readers tell us they want to know more about who they're buying from. For example, they don't want to buy rugs from companies that use child labour or don't engage in fair trade; and they don't want to buy from companies that have poor environmental management.

These important features are written by our editor or deputy editor who do an in-depth interview with you and write a lively 1,000-word article to engage readers. We also include up to 20 images of your products and a click-through link to your site. You can use the story for own PR and marketing; for example you can include it in your newsletter and publish it on your website.

Blinds UK talks window treatments

Roman blinds are fast becoming the nation's favourite window treatment, but there are other options too, depending on your needs and budget

Windows need covering for practical and decorative purposes. Pictured above: curtains can be too voluminous for smaller rooms, says Blinds UK, but if you've got a sitting room with large windows, the combination of Roman blinds and curtains is stunning - and diminishes heat loss through the glass. And see how stripes and florals work surprisingly well together.

There's nothing like moving into a property with no blinds or curtains to make you realise how vital window treatments are as you struggle to pin up sheets or towels to offer some privacy when it starts to get dark.

Product in Focus

Got a product you want to tell people about? Then choose our Product in Focus option. We do a phone interview with you about the product and write up the story in our usual editorial style. These lively 400-word articles include up to 5 images, a click-through link to your website, and you can use them for your own marketing purposes.

Get readers to click straight through to your website from our content via a hyperlink. Readers tell us they're far more likely to visit a site if they can click-through as they're reading.

Quarterly Newsletter (Editorial/Customised)

Our newsletters are three pages and designed to look like a mini magazine, with short articles with links to our content. We can also give you a link to your website from the newsletter.

Product focus: it's black and white with Soho range from Tubes Radiatori

If you're looking for a radiator that is fully recyclable, fast to heat up, uses little water and has designer looks, then consider the Soho collection from Italian manufacturer Tubes.

Product Focus

Plants are lovely but they look so much better in a gorgeous container...and plant pots don't come more colourful and eye catching than these new designs from Hum Partnership.

Note: Click on the images in the article to see larger versions and product information.

Gardens, balconies, terraces and patios can look drab in the winter months, so why not cheer up your outside (and indeed inside...) space with a vibrant plant pot or two from new brand Hum Partnership. The pots are made in the UK from recyclable plastic and company co-founder Tim Kelly says he and the team are working to develop a range made from post-consumer recycled plastic.

Hum pots are 22cm high and they won't fade, crack or disintegrate whatever the weather throws at them. Surely a snip at £13.

If your home is cluttered, check out the natural willow storage from Anthea Turner's NEAT collection for

Focus on: Teixidors

Wool is a sustainable material, but its production is not always ethical. Teixidors is a soft furnishings brand that says sustainability and ethically go hand in hand, and it's striving to use animal fibres from producers that guarantee high animal welfare standards.
